47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

ISP access has become a life necessity just like water food and shelter.

The broadband / bundled companies know this and want to eliminate competition so they can sell more services and offer sub par broadband speeds at an elevated cost.

Sonics fiber service is critical to my professional success and in my area (San Francisco, not exactly rural) its one of two (only two!!!) service providers.

Fibers service is affordable and dependable and I paid 3x as much for comcast service which delivered only a fraction of the speed or Comcasts on suggested speeds.

I waited several years for sonic and Im not interested in losing that service.
